Hartsville -- On behalf of the Gaylord and Dorothy Donnelley Foundation, the WeGOJA Foundation is conducting a survey of African American non-profits in the South Carolina Lowcountry to assess levels of organizational sustainability.

WeGOJA seeks information from church-based organizations, civic groups, land trusts, historic preservation organizations and sites, museums, education-based charities, cultural festivals – any non-profit that provides services in the Lowcountry.

The counties covered include Beaufort, Berkeley, Charleston, Colleton, Dorchester, Georgetown, Hampton, Horry, Jasper and Williamsburg counties.

The survey can be found at this link <https://www.wegoja.org/nonprofitsurvey>. The deadline for responses is Monday, June 28.

Only non-profits that serve African Americans in the South Carolina Lowcountry are being asked to complete the survey at this time. For more information, contact Dawn Dawson-House, Executive Director of the WeGOJA Foundation, at WeGOJAexecdir@gmail.com.
